Pope Benedict to bring back Latin Mass

ROMA (AP) — Pope Benedict XVI will bring back the Latin Mass, the traditional form of the Catholic Eucharist, in some parishes, the pope announced on Monday.

Some critics, who feel in 1963, when the new Mass was introduced, the church was losing its identity, are pleased by the pope's decision.

The pope said he will allow the use of the Latin Mass in some parishes, but he will not allow it to be the only Mass celebrated in a parish.

Living, not dying, with AIDS in Davao

By [Name] in Davao

AIDS is not a death sentence. It is a chronic disease that can be managed with the right medical care. In Davao, a group of healthcare workers and patients are working together to improve the quality of life for those living with the virus. They are providing comprehensive care, including medical treatment, counseling, and support groups. The goal is to help people live longer, healthier lives and reduce the stigma associated with the disease.

Cardinal Rosales' V Mass draws 4000

The Archdiocese of Manila's first project for the month of May, a V Mass, drew a crowd of 4,000 people to the Manila Cathedral on Friday. The Mass was celebrated by Cardinal Rosales, who presided over the service. The event was part of the archdiocese's "First Project" series, which aims to bring the faithful closer to the sacraments.

The Mass was held in the Manila Cathedral, which was filled to capacity. Cardinal Rosales, in his opening remarks, emphasized the importance of the Eucharist in the life of the Church. He encouraged the faithful to participate fully in the sacrament and to live out the Gospel in their daily lives.

The Mass was a significant event for the archdiocese, as it drew a large number of people to the cathedral. This was the first time in several years that the cathedral has been so full. The event was a testament to the faith of the people of Manila and the importance of the sacraments in their lives.

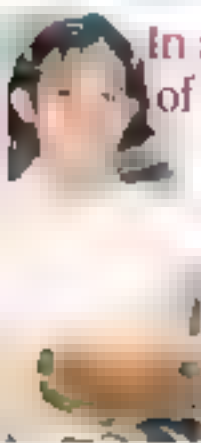

The Mass was a beautiful celebration of the Eucharist, and it was a joy to see so many people gathered together. Cardinal Rosales' leadership and the devotion of the people made this a truly special event. We hope that this will be a model for future events and that it will inspire the faithful to live more fully in the Gospel.
